Software Engineering Seminar

Complex Event Processing for Failure Detection

Description
The questions that should be answered by student is to what extend currently predictive software analytics approaches based on complex event processing are suitable to detect failures in software-intensive systems at runtime. The provided literature [1-6] can be seen as a starting point and it is expected to extend the literature search and present a coherent view on the current state of the art in this area.

References

Contacts
Lars Grunske
Universität Stuttgart
Institute of Software Technology (ISTE), Reliable Software Systems (RSS)
Universitätsstraße 38, 70569 Stuttgart, Germany
Email: grunske@informatik.uni-stuttgart.de